

Sharp and Effective Presentations

Program Snapshot

Designing and presenting impactful presentations is a non-negotiable requirement in the current day and age. However, most presenters either fall short of creating an interactive and interesting presentation, or are unaware of tools that facilitate the same. Our Training program on Presentation Skills equips the participants with the necessary knowledge, skills and behaviours to design and deliver presentations that are not only sharp-focused, but also interactive and interesting. The delegates attending the program will develop an edge over other presenters as they will

- Learn and practice how to translate good information or a great idea into a successful presentation
- Know how to sieve information to create a presentation that is not drab, but refreshing and engaging
- Use different tools to create powerful presentations with minimum effort
- Acquire the requisite skills and behaviours to facilitate presentations with impact
- Master the art of capturing the audience and taking them through the journey of the presentation in a persuasive and professional manner

The program will help participants reflect on their own ability & style of presenting, recognise alternate styles, and will provide them with a tool-kit to enhance their effectiveness in structuring and delivering the presentation.

The training methodology includes micro-lab, breakout group activities, exercises, ample practice sessions, and presentation followed by detailed evaluation & feedback.
